Azure Dev-Sec-Ops Environment Creation

Establish a secure, efficient environment for native Azure development with foundational Infrastructure as Code (IaC) blocks.

CHALLENGE

Organizations in the non-profit and healthcare sectors often need to swiftly develop and deploy applications to respond to dynamic operational demands. However, they face challenges in creating an environment that supports native Azure development while ensuring security and efficiency. The lack of expertise in setting up a DevSecOps environment, which integrates development, security, and operations seamlessly, can hinder the rapid deployment of applications and services crucial for their mission.

SOLUTION

The Azure Dev-Sec-Ops Environment Creation service eliminates these hurdles by providing a purpose-built environment tailored for native Azure development, with a strong foundation for adopting Infrastructure as Code (IaC). This service facilitates a smooth transition into Azure development and IaC, offering a customized, secure, and efficient environment for your team to develop, deploy, and manage applications with reliability, transparency, and security embedded into the process.

BENEFITS

- Reliability: Ensure application availability with a reliable development and deployment process.
- Transparent Configuration: Achieve traceability and easy rollback of configurations with detailed setup.
- Security: Embed security throughout the development lifecycle with DevSecOps best practices.
